GIRL GUIDES WILL IN FUTURE HOLD REGULAR MEETINGS

The regular meetings of the First Gleichen Troop of Girl Guides were resumed Friday evening, after being discontinued for several weeks, owing to the cold weather.

The meeting opened at 7 p.m. with about 60 per cent attendance. The attendance was unusually small because of the epidemic of mumps in town. After flag break and inspection the members present passed the stalking and tracking tests. The patrol corners were then examined by Captain Swain and Lieutenant Philip. The standing to date being as follows:

Nightingales 25 stars; Canaries 15 stars; Robins 16 stars; Bluebirds 11 stars.

The rest of the evening was spent in playing games, after which the meeting was formally closed.

HOCKEY FINISHED FOR THE SEASON

Hockey, at this writing, appears to be finished for the season. Gleichen produced two teams of such playing ability that they surprised everybody, namely, Old Sun Juvies who had arrived here three days before. The general took place to Edmonton centre with the officials of the Home conducting the services.

A. W. Dingman, the mining engineer who died in Calgary was well known to many Gleichen old timers 25 years ago. At that time Mr. Dingman thought there was oil in the Gleichen area, and erected a derrick on the Blackfoot reserve a couple of hundred yards south east of the site where the hospital now stands and proceeded to drill. The well was down some 2000 feet when a small quantity of gas was struck. The company requested Mr. Dingman to take down the derrick and ship it to Bow Island and drill for gas at Calgary. As near as we can remember the story Mr. Dingman fuel ure oil would be found soon and took the men to keep on drilling. Shortly after some of the officials paid the well a visit to see what progress was being made in dismantling the equipment and found Herren and Eddie drilling away. The official ordered Mr. Dingman to get the derrick down and he passed on the order. As soon as the officials and Mr. Dingman left the drillers proceeded to drill knowing that if they hit oil all would be well. More time went by and the officials paid the well another visit to find the drillers still pounding away downward. The derrick came down this time and the outfit moved away to the disappointment of the citizens of the town.

Gleichen has five players of other seasons and five players of last year's Aces. Juvies turned out to be a wonder team, in that the juveniles could improve so much in one season in intermediate hockey, to help carry the club into the third round of the provincial playoff. At the beginning of the season no one expected the team to get far in the playoffs, and doubted they would get as far as the second round. Early in the season the club suffered defeats, but it was noticed that in each succeeding game the team had improved. In the first game Medicine Hat got a three goal lead, but in the intervening time until the next game the Gunners had improved considerably. In the second game they could out skate and outplay their opponents. In the last game with Lethbridge the Gunners demonstrated they could outskate and outplay them. But when they ran up against Strathmore it was noticed the older players on that team had the advantage of experience. Next year if the local team is still intact it will take "some team" to beat them.

Gleichen should have plenty of hockey material for some years to come when the rising young players are considered not forgetting the possibility that some of the Old Sun boys might be able to make the grade and get a position on the line up. After all it would be an eye-opener if we had a couple of Blackfoot hockey players on the team.

The extremely cold weather during January and February caused the cancellation or postponement of several games and kept down the attendance to the financial loss of the club. This raises again the question of getting a roof on teh rink. If a roof had covered the rink the game with Strathmore played in Calgary could have been played here and the revenue would have been $600. It is claimed that a roof can be put up for $2,500. The question is whether the money can be found to do this. One thing a start should be made to build up a fund toward that end. We have got the finest ball park and swimming pool along the line to put on entertainments, also an excellent place for a stampede in June. Stage a few good prize fights. There are lots of ways to pick up a dollar here and there for all that is needed in the proper spirit behind it.

Gleichen and Strathmore are at the only town with crack hockey teams that have not covered rinks.

C. J. Cranfield of Toronto spent Friday in town visiting relatives. He left early Saturday morning for Vancouver.

News Items of Local Interest

Bob Haskayne and J. Black had the pleasure of meeting the Coleman Indian boys in Calgary one day last week. Mr. Haskayne states they are the best bunch of "regular fellers" he ever met.

It is estimated that the loss of stock on the Blackfoot reserve during the recent cold spell would amount to five per cent, which is considered a very small loss. For over three months the Indian department has been feeding the stock, finally using all the feed they had on hand, bought all the hay the farmers around Gleichen could supply. In the end hay gave out and all the straw for many miles about was purchased and hauled to the reserve. Just as the straw was finished mild weather came and the worries of the Indian officials were over to a certain extent.

John Smallcombe, aged 76 years, f. Blackie Alta, died at the Edmonton last week. He had arrived here three days before. The funeral took place to Edmonton centre with the officials of the Home conducting the services.

The week of meetings conducted by Commandant Hardy and Envoy Mundy in Mr. Purcell's old store came to conclusion Sunday afternoon. The meetings were much appreciated by those who attended.

A. H. Heacock has decided to give up farming and has leased his farm. T. H. Beach will hold an auction sale for Mr. Heacock at his farm on March 19th.

DASHES FROM CRAIGTLSTER AND DISTRICT

Jack Stickle was east over the week end, reporting a good time, arriving home early Monday morning.

The Girls Ball Club put on a dance in the school last Friday, but owing to the bad roads there was not such a big crowd as would have been had the room been available. John Verment of Strathmore won the quilt. Mr. and Mrs. F. Dankwart delivered the nice quilt to Mr. Vermont on Saturday. Mr. Vermont being in charge of the bar in the King Edward set 'em up, after which Fred and his wife attended the hockey game in Calgary between the Luscar and Coleman teams.

THE GOOD SIDE OF WINTER

Now that winter appears to be almost over, like most things in this world has its good side, and that not merely in its more apparent aspects of sunshine and keen bracing air, though these have undoubtedly a good effect on our energy and cheerfulness. Our winter saves us from certain difficulties which other countries of more temperate climate have to face. For one thing, an exchange points out, it is almost certainly due to the winter that we shall probably never have a negro problem in Canada. The negro is naturally adverse to cold, naturally fond of hot sunshine. Though there are many negroes in Canada, yet they do not tend to increase in such numbers or to form solid blocks of population as in the states. Anyone who has studied recent works on the negro problem in the states knows how difficult and棘手 the question is, and how much concern there is throughout the land as to what is to be done.

The necessity to make good the deficit of horses in Canada consequent on the decline of horse breeding in the years prior to 1932 and the fact that there is a market abroad for Canadian horses are two of the urgent reasons why the present revival of the horse industry which has spread to every province should be encouraged. The replacement of the farm horse by machinery in the years previous to 1932 made it appear that the horse was doomed but since that date circumstances have proven that the disappearance of the horse is a long time distant. As a matter of fact, a decided swing-back to horses has been in evidence since 1932, and now there are not enough horses to supply the demand. The change in agricultural conditions, characterized by low prices for farm commodities, has impressed upon the farmer the fact that the horse is the most economical source of farm power in successful Canadian

ATTRACTIVE BOXING AND WRESTLING CARD ARRANGED

A double main event will feature the boxing and wrestling show to be staged here next week, Thursday March 19, by the Hockey Club.

Monday negotiations were completed to have a heavyweight wrestling bout between Chief Thunder Bird, an Indian from Oakland, California, and King Elliott of Australia. These two wrestlers are in great demand in the big cities and it was indeed a fortunate circumstance that the Hockey Club was able to arrange for them to appear in Gleichen and display their wares. It was the original intention to have this show on Friday, March 20th, but Thursday was the only night it was possible to have these famous wrestlers appear here. Each man weighs 210 pounds. The best two out of three falls will decide the winner with the limit set at one hour.

K. O. Wilson of Arrowwood and Kit Alcide of Edmonton will provide the entertainment in the main event in boxing. Wilson's record in Gleichen is two knock outs in as many starts. Kit Alcide fought Sailor Goodland to a draw last December. Goodland is fighting in Medicine Hat this month for the championship of Western Canada. If Wilson can stay with Alcide his reputation will be made. The bout is billed for 10 rounds of three minutes each. Wilson tips the scales at 160, while Alcide is at 155.

There will be two preliminaries. Charlie Smith will tangle with Johnny Donald of Edmonton. Both are in the 135 pound class. This will be the first time that an outsider has been brought in to fight Smith and it should be a real test for him. Charlie keeps in training all the time and should be able to give a good account of himself. The Edmonton boy's record is not known in Gleichen.

The other preliminary will be between Fighting Eddie Daw of Gleichen and Merle Telford of Cluny in

Any Time is Tea Time "SALADA" TEA

A Pot Of Gold?

It is said that people learn by experience. True, undoubtedly, but one wonders sometimes just how much experience is needed for some people to learn some lessons.

In illustration one might cite the well established axiom that "there is no royal road to wealth." Experience, reaching back for centuries has simply proved the truth of this assertion but the lessons of the past do not appear to be very deeply engrained on a good many human minds, or if the truth of the statement is admitted and recognized, it is quite frequently ignored or blindly waived aside.

Why is it that so many people are easy to convince, against all the laws of sound economics, in defiance of recorded history and experience, in opposition to their own inherent common sense, that there is a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow to be had merely for the gathering?

Why is it that people of fair education, people who are well read, people who usually apply good sense in the pursuit of their daily avocations and even demonstrate shrewd ability in ordinary business transactions, fall an easy prey to the lure of financial fakirs, confidence tricksters and unscrupulous sharks?

There can be only one answer to these questions and that is that people of ordinary intelligence and acumen who succumb to the wiles of the tricky financial gangster and invest hard earned savings in wild projects and doubtful schemes have permitted blind, unreasoning hope to supplant judgment and common sense. In other words, the desire to get something for nothing or to acquire a lot from a little is allowed to over-ride good sense. The inevitable result of such lassie is disastrous speculation in schemes in which every card is stacked against the player.

And once the victim has allowed himself to be lured into the net by promises of huge returns and great rewards it is astonishing how reluctant he is to admit even to himself that he has been ensnared even after the truth is revealed in unpleasant starkness. The net in which he is caught is made of golden meshes and rather than credit anything else he is ready to believe the most impossible stories and back up his faith by sending good money after bad until he is ultimately strangled.

A remarkable illustration of the operation of this psychological trait was recently unfolded in the exposé of the "Drake estate" frauds in the Chicago courts when it was revealed that 70,000 residents of mid-western States had contributed a total of $1,350,000 to a group who represented they held claims to the Sir Francis Drake estate, consisting of incredible wealth in Great Britain plus title to debts owing the estate in 66 countries of the world with compound interest which had been piling up for 300 years. It was represented that those who would contribute funds to enable the group to settle up the estate would reap a thousandfold on their investment.

Even after the ringleader was sentenced to a ten-year term in jail money continued to roll in to his agents who collected on a commission basis to further their alleged efforts to "collect the estate", evidence in the trial of 41 of these collectors revealed.

Wild stories were told at campaign meetings and, judging from the resultant flow of money, believed. Prospects were told that all the silver and gold in the world really belonged to the estate which was why the United States began calling itself the empire. Why England departed from the gold standard when Roosevelt was operating on a sounder tying system actually in England settling the estate and that the ring leader was not in jail but was waiting to release a secret understanding with the Bank of England, which would start the golden flood pouring across the prairies. One of the prospects is reported to have written the Bank of England, and, when told the Drake estate had been settled long ago, "repeated his plaintive query, 'What steps do I take to get my money?'"

It reads like a fairy tale, but it is important to point out that for this one scheme which received a great deal of publicity, there are hundreds of others to which the unsuspecting public is invited to subscribe, about which not much is heard.

Such appeals are invariably launched on the well-founded assumption that there are still plenty of people gullible enough to part with their money if the bait is made sufficiently glittering in the form of handsome returns at short notice.

Those who are tempted by such blandishments would do well to hesitate before taking the plunge into dubious waters and particularly to be wary of glittering promises of speedy and handsome dividends. Money is not made that way, except by the few who are out to "take the suckers for a ride."

For the average man or woman there is just one reasonably safe way to ensure a competence for old age and that is by the slow and painful route of hard work, thrift and investment of savings in sound securities, remembering that the sounder the security, the smaller will be the returns. Such method requires courage, persistence, self-denial, endurance and intelligence, but it is the only rational way, for there is no royal road to riches.

Robbed Press Of Headline

Prince of Wales Had Fall Papers Did Not Get

Rt. Hon. Raoul Dandurand, government leader in the Senate, told the Red Chamber how King Edward as Prince of Wales "got even" with newspapers for publishing pictures of him thrown by horses.

The Senator disclosed a meeting with the Prince in 1927 and a discussion of horse racing in which the Prince said he had no more falls than the average rider but that "terrible photographers had him in the press all the time."

"I once got even with them," he quoted the Prince as having told him. "I robbed them of a big headache. On the polo grounds at the other end of the field, far away from the spectators, I was knocked down by a maul strike which grazed the eye and made me grab my head. My shirt was covered with blood. I was picked up and driven to a nearby hospital where I was given three stitches. If reporters had been at hand the world would have been told I was dead."

There are more people to the acre in Barbados than on any other spot in the western hemisphere.

Russia's Communal Kitchens

Preparation Of Food Is Done Entirely By Machinery

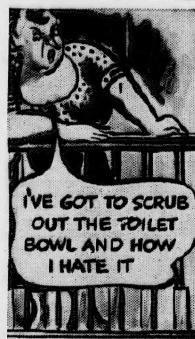

Twenty-five million Russians are being fed today from communal kitchens. Last year they consumed ten billion dishes. During the past six years the number of dishes served from such kitchens has increased by 20 times; and the service is still growing. One kitchen now in course of construction will be capable of preparing 450,000 dishes a day. The preparation of food in these organizations has become so highly mechanized that the food is not touched by human hands during the whole process.

Learned Too Quickly

Robot Narrowly Missed Killing Its Tutor With Gun

A new trick that he was adding to his mechanical man's repertoire at the Pacific International Exposition in San Diego, California, almost cost the life of Henry C. May, inventor.

May was trying to teach the robot to shoot a revolver. The mechanical man learned more quickly than he anticipated, and shot him in the head. He will recover.

May Build Salt Refinery

Test Drilling Will Start Soon At Salt Beds In Alberta

Erection of a 470,000 salt refinery at McMurray, Alberta, in the spring will be carried out by a new company, according to F. J. Batchelor of Cornwall, Ontario, head of the new firm who recently returned from a week's inspection trip at the provincial government, said the former Calgary bank manager.

If present indications of the extent of the salt bed are confirmed, the refinery will be constructed in the spring, Mr. Batchelor said. Plant will have a production of 30,000 tons of salt a year and will employ in the neighborhood of 40 men.

Questioned regarding a market for the product Mr. Batchelor stated Alberta alone consumes from 30,000 to 32,000 tons yearly.

Central western provinces use 70,000 to 80,000 tons a year. Plant will be confined to manufacturing table salt at the outset and will branch into various grades later. The salt is mined by drilling and pumping the brine to the surface in the form of brine. The brine is evaporated in the refinery.

Refinery will be erected beside the railway at McMurray and if necessary the brine may be piped from wells some distance away.

Production is expected to commence by next September.

Taxed Captain's Skill

Locomotives Broke Moorings In Storm And Jumped Above Deck

To have four 72-ton locomotives dance about the deck of a little tramp steamer in a monsoon on the Indian Ocean, was the experience of Captain H. Nyegard master of the Othander. He told of his perilous trip on arriving at Singapore, Malaya. The locomotives were on their way from Alsace-Lorraine to China and were strapped to the deck with heavy chains. Their 30-foot tenders were in the hold. The terrific wind sent wave after wave over the little vessel until she was practically under water all the time. Suddenly, Captain Nyegard awoke, the locomotives lifted and jumped about as if alive, nine of the chains having parted. For several hours the ship would be maneuvered to keep it above water and the locomotives on deck. Stopping at Bombay Captain Nyegard had the binders renewed.

Smoke Drift Of London

Reports Would Indicate It Travels For Long Distance

That smoke originating in England is being observed in other parts of Europe was reported at the annual conference of the National Smoke Abatement Society in Bristol, England, by Dr. A. G. Ruston of Leeds University. "Smoke from industrial England has been observed," he said, "as far west as Valencia Island, on the West coast of Ireland; the smoke drift of London is frequently seen by air plots over the Channel and Northern France; a sort fringe on the edge of Coniston Water—derived from Lancashire, and the West Riding of Yorkshire—has been photographed; and it has been alleged that the steam on the Isle of Man is darker in color when an east wind blows across from Lancashire."

An Unusual Sale

Railway In New Brunswick Brought $100,000 At Auction

The Tobique Valley railway, running 25 miles from the junction to Blatto Rock, was sold for $100,000 to S. Ronald Jones and E. B. Harley, Saint John, at a public auction.

Frantic activity followed the doctor's arrival. They contain concentrated extracts of APPLES, ORANGES, FIGS, PRUNES and HONEY. That is why it is so big—a naturally sweet fruit—yet contains no sugar without pain or after effects!"

Safety-At-Sea Service

Reports received from four liners on the Atlantic stated reception of complete weather maps by radio facsimile had been successful, according to Charles Fannin, president of the Radiomarine Corporation of America, which has just started the new safety-at-sea service.

No More Stomach Trouble!

New can eat anything without pain or after effects.

"For a long time I suffered badly from indigestion. I tried many remedies but got worse until I started Fannin's. Then it would go right away entirely, and could eat anything without pain or after effects!"

CARAMEL NUT PUDDING

1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup
1/2 cup boiling water
2 cups scalped milk
4 tablespoons Benson's Corn Starch

1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup cold milk
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Melt the sugar to caramel; add the boiling water gradually; cook until the sugar is well thick. Mix the Benson's Corn Starch, Crown Brand Corn Syrup, salt and cold milk. Add gradually to the hot milk in a double boiler. Stir constantly and as mixture begins to thicken add caramel. Cook 45 minutes, stirring every 10 minutes. Add the yolks of the eggs which have been well beaten. Cook again for three minutes. Add flavoring and pour into a greased baking dish. Top with the following mixture:

2 eggs whites stiffly beaten
2 tablespoons fine fruit sugar
1 tablespoon Benson's Corn Starch

Sprinkle with nuts and brown in the oven. Chill and serve.

Gift For Noted Pianist

Watch Made Especially For Padewski Has No Duplicate

Padewski, the great pianist, is to be presented with a watch which he will know is his. It has just been completed in Warsaw. The time-piece has the hours represented by the letters I. J. Padewski, a piano key-note representing the minutes. The hour hand is in the form of a pen, the minute hand like a conductor's baton, the second dial marked with the name of the district in which Padewski was born, and round the dial are the notes of 12 Padewski compositions. It is said to keep perfect time.

School Absences Due to Colds Cut Almost One-Half

Famous Colds-Control Plan Tested in Three Series of Clinics Among 5,118 School Children

FURTHER PROVED IN USE

School absences due to colds have been reduced nearly one-half (40.20%) by following Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. This is shown in records of clinics among 5,118 school children.

Mothers and teachers alike welcome Vicks Plan as a practical guide to fewer and shorter colds. This combination cold-control plan is based on three simple steps:

1. To Help Build Resistance to Colds Live normally—avoid excesses. Eat simple food and keep elimination regular. Drink plenty of water. Take short walks outdoors—preferably in the open. Get plenty of rest and sleep.

2. To Help Prevent Many Colds At the first warning nasal irritation, sniff a few drops each nostril. Vicks Vaporub is especially designed for the nose and upper throat—where most colds start. Used in time, Vaporub helps to prevent many colds—and to rid of head colds in the early stages.

3. To Help End a Cold Sooner If a cold has developed, or strikes without warning, rub Vaporub and sit at bed-side. Vicks Vaporub acts two ways at once: (1) stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster; (2) by inhalation to inflate the air-passages. Through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action lessens phlegm, soothes irritation, helps to end a cold sooner.

What Vicks Plan can do for others has been indicated not only in clinics, but also in the further proof of everyday household use. What it can do for you and your family can be proved only by trying it. Directions for following the Plan come in each package of Vicks Va-tro-nol and Vicks Vaporub.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It's like a log jam in your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful bacteria multiply, and you feel weak, sick and the world looks dim.

A severe bowel movement does not always mean that what works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Canadian Yeast Cakes to move two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel strong again. They're the only ones that make the bile flow freely. They do the work of colon oil but have no calories or mystery. The Royal Yeast Cakes will help you feel strong again. Please try them. Helen Stüberly refuses anything else. See her.

System Has Been Changed

Canada Makes Banknotes Into Pulp Instead Of Burning Them

The Canadian Government now "bols" its old banknotes instead of burning them. Last year $50,000,000 in common bank notes were dumped into a huge vat and boiled to a pulp, which was sold to paper-makers. Burning of old bills was abandoned as "wasteful" and because of the possibility of scraps of notes, partially burned being carried through chimneys to the outdoors.

FLEMING'S FOLLY

BY LAWRENCE A. REATING

SYNOPSIS

The story opens with Link Fleming addressing a meeting of Bone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

Roper Kilo, the boss of the Rawhide and nearby ranches, who seemed to approve the plan, was really opposed to it, had forced Soal, Farmer, and Doctor to leave town when Kilo knew he would be called upon to give his expert opinion in favor of the scheme, to reverse his earlier endorsement, and demand the withdrawal of Bone county so far as Fleming's plan was concerned was only a new-fangled way to waste money.

The meeting terminates, but Buzz and Helen, along with Link, and Kilo, stand by and hear Fleming question about his irrigation plan. This angers Buzz, who accuses Fleming of trying to influence the others to accept his "spread". Buzz shoots at Fleming in an uncontrollable fit of anger, but Buster Townsend, Link's foreman, is uninjured. Buzz is arrested and sentenced to three years imprisonment.

Helen and Fleming form a partnership to provide irrigation for their own properties.

Fleming goes home and studies the plans drawn by Torney to learn whether they can be adapted to a more modest scale suited to his and Helen's land, and is satisfied it could be done. Feeling cold, he lights the fire, and there is an explosion which wrecks the house, and the plans and renders Link unconscious. He is rescued from the blaze by an employee.

He started after. "Aw, Helen! It's only that I feel bad about you going busted on Fleming's fool idea. I'll come along and carry your things. Say, I always had a weakness for yuh, and that's why I'm afraid about this crazy water scheme..."

"I need salt," she mused, "and some canned goods. You may carry them if you'd really like to." She tripped into the odorous general store with Roper at her heels.

Down the street Sheriff Stephen fingered greyish stubble on his chin. "If Buzz Hamilton turns over a new leaf, I'll shore sp'ime you. You're taking a big responsibility, Link, gettin' him paroled to yuh."

"Maybe I am. But it's going to please Helen a lot. Always makes her feel bad to think of Buzz in prison."

"Huh! Tried to kill yuh, didn't he?" Buzz was always wild an' scarcely ever without too many drunks under his belt."

"True. But perhaps six months behind stone walls have taught him a lesson. Anyhow," the rancher went on as he glanced about for Helen, "don't mention that he's due on the stage-to-day. I want to make it a surprise. Gosh, if you were a girl and your brother was in prison, I reckon you'd feel good to have him paroled, eh?"

Anmes grunted, unable to picture himself as a girl. "Buzz is good even if he is her brother, even if Jim Hamilton was about as square a guy as this county ever saw. No, sir, Buzz is just naturally weak; always was an' always will be."

Fleming grinned indulgently, and, sighting his partner in a Silver Cup, he pointed, started down the sidewalk toward her. Kilo followed from the general store carrying the girl's purchases.

"Stow them in my saddlebag, will you please, Roper?" she said over her shoulder. "Link and I have to see Otto Peiper."

Their eyes met and they smiled. Fleming's look, however, changed to sober concern as they approached the door of the Stockmen's Bank. "If we don't talk Otto into this loan it's going to be hard to keep the boys workin' on the dam. We're behind with their wages now, but I'm afraid to ask more'n eight hundred. Smile a few times extra, will you?" He sighed. "If Otto says no, we're busted—sky high and permanent!"

Damp and gloomy, the bank interior lay in silence but for the deliberate ticking of a clock on the wall. No one was in the place save Jimmy Farlane, the clerk, bent in his chair, his head buried in his hands. Plaster himself, seated at an oak desk in the rear, His sharp, weasened scrutiny lifted from a mass of papers as they approached, and his nod of welcome was curt and business-like.

"It's you two, eh?"

Helen's heart throbbed faster. "Mr. Peiper," she announced, "we're here on a matter that means profits for our stockholders."

His small, deep-set eyes appraised her shrewdly. "I suppose that fool irrigation scheme o' yours is out of cash again. Well, I'll see how I can do anything about it."

Link tossed his sombrero before the banker and leaned forward, hands on the desk. "Otto, we'll let you off easy to-day," he grinned.

"All we need is eight hundred dollars."

The other stiffened. "Do you think this is the United States mint? Eight hundred dollars?" he repeated. "On what security, young fellow?"

Helen and Link exchanged looks. "Well," Link responded, staring at the back of his hand, "we thought maybe second mortgage."

Pieper lifted an accusing finger. "You know very well I turned you down twice on a second mortgage on either your property or Helen's. Isn't worth enough. This bank will take no such risk while I'm president!"

"Don't get mad, Otto. I—"

"Let's waste no more time; I'm very busy to-day." And the wiry banker busked himself with papers on his desk.

Helen's heart sank. Fleming looked at her, then moistened his lips. "If you don't care about a second mortgage, maybe we could fix up some kind of note. I'd like to keep business at home, rather than take it over to that new bank at Atlas."

Glaize has declined as there does not seem to be so much interest in Morgan Cup series as in the provincial games, by the fans.

If you buy a meal in Wisconsin now, and pay more than 25 cents for it, you have to eat some cheese with it. Or, to be exact, you have to buy some cheese, whether you eat it or not. This is under the terms of a new law designed to stimulate consumption of Wisconsin's dairy products. Maybe you don't like cheese. You'll buy it anyway. And it somehow reminds us of the story of the radical who was haranguing a group of fans on the beauties of communism. When the revolution came he assured them, "you would all eat strawberries and cream for breakfast. One brave soul objected, saying he didn't like strawberries and cream. The orator wagged his finger sternly and shouted: "comes the revolution and you'll eat strawberries and cream—and like it!"

Small talk is the small change of life; there is no getting on without it. There are times when a little nonsense is very palatable, and gravity and sedateness ought to be kicked down stairs. A philosopher cuts a poor figure in a dance hall unless he leaves his wisdom at home. We have met with men who were too lofty for small talk. They were above such trifling; in other words they were above making and above making themselves agreeable, above pleasing and above being pleased. The world is made up of trifles, and he who can trifle elegantly and gracefully is a valuable acquisition to mankind. He is a Corinthian column in the fabric of society.

When Buying Was an Experiment

"I'll try a pound of this," said your grandmother, "if you are sure it's fresh."

That was sometime in the second hour of her morning's search for groceries. She went from one open barrel or open box to the next, along an unappetizing row of crackers, teas, cereals, dried fruits, lard and sugar—all in bulk. She shooed the flies away, looked at, touched and tasted each article suspiciously, and finally decided to buy or not to buy, as her judgement directed. She couldn't trust a servant to do it. It was a day's work in itself.

Today, in two minutes, you give the grocer your order. You know that everything you get will be fresh, pure, attractively and cleanly packed. Why? Because you asked for advertised brands.

Advertising has taken hours of hard labor out of every housewife's day, and lines of worry off her forehead. It has made the morning's marketing a matter of certainty instead of guesswork.

Do all of your buying this easier way—
